

Your Other Self

the prudent, provident, far-seeing man within you asks:

Have you ever thought what will become of you when your earning capacity is gone?

Is there anything more pathetic than a man bowed down with years, who is compelled to rend body and soul to eke out a livelihood?

Why not regulate your present outgo with reference to your future diminishing capacity for earning income.

Save and bank enough now to make up the difference later on.

Money securely banked with us is energy stored against the struggle for existence.

Provide a growing account to insure your future ease.

OBITUARY

George H. Jones died Aug. 2, 1922, of indigestion, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Harriman, Kingston, Mich., where he and his wife had gone to spend the day, living but twenty-four hours after the first attack.

Deceased was born one mile north and one mile west of Yale (then called Brockway Centre) on Oct. 22, 1852, being 69 years, 9 months and 9 days old at the time of death the same age his father was when death claimed him.

The father, John D. Jones, was a pioneer lumberman of St. Clair and Sanilac counties, and George being associated with him in the business from boyhood formed a love for new country.

He was united in marriage to M. Matilda Rath in 1878, and immigrated to the northern part of Sanilac county (Evergreen township) in 1881, the spring preceding the disastrous fire. Here he resided until his death, never having moved from the farm on which he first settled. When Mr. Jones, one of the pioneers first moved to Evergreen there were only thirteen voters in the township. There were no roads, no store or post office in the township. He succeeded in getting a mill, a store and a post office established at Shabbona. He was appointed post master and held this position continually for 30 years with the exception of one and one-half years, seeing it grow from a little office in his home to an office with four rural carriers.

He was always foremost in the things that would be a benefit to the township and community in which he lived. He will be remembered as an honorable and upright citizen. He leaves to mourn his demise a wife, one daughter, Nellie, of Kingston, one son, J. D., residing on the homestead, one sister, Mrs. M. J. Nicholson, of Illinois, two children having preceded him to the great beyond. Funeral services were held under the auspices of the Masonic Order, and he was laid to rest in the Cass City cemetery with every token of respect due an honorable pioneer.

Additional Locals

Quite a number from Yale attended the K. of C. picnic at Lexington Tuesday.

The weather has been hot and dry during the past week. Rain is badly needed.

J. A. Menzies is having his dwelling house re-painted. Jacob Miller has the job.

Roy Moore moved this week to the house on Spring street recently purchased by his father.

Mrs. Eva Lothian and children are on a visit to London, Ont., and Port Huron friends and relatives.

Herb T. Hennessy has sold his dwelling house in the south part of the city to James Hauwegan. Herb is planning on moving away.

Margaret Gleason was operated on for appendicitis on Thursday last by Drs. Wight, Clyne and Pollock. She is much improved.

A wagon from the St. Clair county commission was in Yale last Saturday and coated the cracks in the cement pavement with asphalt.

Edward Sheehy has been confined to his home during the past week by sickness. A trained nurse has been caring for him. He is some better at present writing.

Ellery Wellar, who sold his garage at Watertown last spring and has since resided in Crosswell, is now employed as service man at the Yale Sales & Service garage. Ellery expects to move to Yale soon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Lamiman stopped over in Yale the weekend visiting relatives and friends while on their return to Detroit after spending a couple of weeks at the James Welch cottage on VanNattan Lake.

Helen, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cavanagh, celebrated her 5th birthday on August 9th, with the nicest little party of five little girls. A dainty lunch was served them and a jolly time was had.

Only about half the number of teachers took the examination in Port Huron last week that were expected, but this doesn't mean a shortage to fill the rural schools this fall, as many teachers have already been hired.

Jack Wilt is walking with a decided limp at the present time. A couple of weeks ago Jack stepped in a pile of ashes where a bon fire had been built, and got his shoe full of hot ashes. Before he could get his shoe off his foot was badly burned.

Congressman Patrick Kelley's Statement on the Pending Strike Situation

Unexpectedly called upon by the president to return to Washington to attend the session of Congress beginning next Tuesday to deal with the strike situation, Congressman Patrick H. Kelley, in the midst of his senatorial campaign, at once made arrangements to leave for the capitol Sunday.

His speaking engagements in the state have been cancelled from that date for an indefinite period.

"Naturally, I dislike to have my tour interrupted at such a time," said Mr. Kelley in an interview, "more especially so in view of the kindly manner in which the voters everywhere are receiving me. But there is where my duty lies and this is no time to shirk a duty."

Concerning the present critical strike situation, Mr. Kelley issued the following statement:

"Transportation lies at the very base of our national existence. No community has a sufficient supply of the necessities of life to last more than a few days. If the government fails in a crisis like this to insure the prompt moving of food and fuel to meet the needs of the people, it fails in its most elemental functions.

"If operators and men cannot agree on wages, the government must step in and run trains and operate the mines. All matters of dispute between operators and employees should, of course, be settled on a basis of fairness to all, but while the negotiations are in progress the people of the country must not be permitted either to freeze or starve. The president must act in time to avert imminent disaster, and he must have the prompt and full support of the Congress.

"I shall leave for Washington Sunday and will uphold the hands of the president with all my strength."
